No Dominion Day Sports.

The fates seemed to have been against those promoters of the Sports day in Stony on July the First.

In spite of the strenuous efforts made by those connected with the musicians' union and the baseball magnates, a none too hearty response was received from the townspeople or their representatives.

Owing to the fact that this holiday comes at a week-end, some of the residents were disinclined to have their away-from home holiday trip spoiled by having to remain here on a Saturday.

However, it is quite possible that, following the practice of two years ago, some Wednesday afternoon in July will be picked on for Stony's sports celebration.

What Is Sportsmanship?

After visiting a few towns where the Stony ball team has played ball, one wonders if the home crowd knows what Sportsmanship really is. I believe the local team gets more support away from home than in their own home town, says H. C. O., in a letter to The Sun. Take Stony away, for instance: If the boys make an error, does the crowd boo him, or say nasty things about him? Not on your life! They know he's no pro., and they don't expect him to be perfect, and they pay more than 15c. to see the game, too.

It really is a pity this town can't act as if they really appreciate the boys' efforts. Encourage them, and they'll give you their best. What more can a fan expect? Just because we've lost a few games, don't stop coming to see the games. We can't lose every game, and all so far have been worth the price of admission.

U.F.W.A. Conference.

On Wed. next, July 5, a Conference of the U.F.W.A. Locals of East and West Edmonton districts will be held here in Stony Plain. ## Who Owns Canada?

The question which appears as the heading of this article was included in examination papers recently submitted to pupils in Montreal schools coming under the jurisdiction of the Catholic School Commission of that city. Answers to the question revealed such vague and uncertain knowledge regarding the status of the Dominion that the Commission appealed to the Secretary of State at Ottawa for an authoritative definition of Canada's status within the British Commonwealth of Nations, and among the world of nations.

The answer, given under the signature of Hon. C. H. Cahan, Secretary of State, defines Canada as a self-governing state of the British Commonwealth of Nations. It sets forth that Great Britain does not own Canada, any more than Canada owns Great Britain; that Canada and Great Britain are each independent members of the British Commonwealth, and that the Dominion belongs to the people of the Dominion.

This answer should set at rest a large amount of uncertainty among Canadians regarding the official status of the land of their birth. It was evident from the answers submitted in the school examinations at Montreal that the subject had not been sufficiently emphasized by the teachers, and the secretary of the Catholic School Commission has stated that in future more attention will be paid to it. It would be well if this was done, not only in the Catholic schools of Montreal, but in all schools throughout the Dominion.

Canada is today an absolutely free and independent nation,—just as much so as any other nation in the world. The King of Canada is George V. He is also King of Great Britain, King of Australia, Emperor of India. In Canada the King is represented by the Governor-General, who is appointed by the King on the advice of the Government of Canada. At one time the Governor-General was appointed on the advice of the Government of Great Britain, and he represented that Government, as well as the King, in Canada. But now,—he represents the Crown only, while the British Government is represented by a Commissioner in the same manner as the United States, France and Japan are represented by Ministers, and Canada is represented in Great Britain by a Commissioner just as other countries are represented there by Ambassadors and Ministers.

The term and status of "Commissioner" is employed between two Dominions of the British Commonwealth because each have a common sovereign and such a sovereign does not send an Ambassador or Minister to represent him to himself as he does to represent him to other sovereign nations. The Crown being represented in the person of the Governor-General, the King's several governments are represented the one to the other by Commissioners.

The question may be asked: If Canada is an independent, fully self-governing Dominion of the British Commonwealth of Nations, why does it not enjoy the power to amend its own constitution, and why are appeals taken from decisions of the Supreme Court of Canada to the Privy Council in Great Britain? Other nations, it may be urged, have power to amend their own constitutions, and their Supreme Courts are final courts of appeal.

The answer is, that Canada can exercise both these powers whenever the people of Canada desire to do so, and probably the time will come when they will decide, by a referendum, to amend their constitution, and to retain to itself the right of carrying judicial appeals to the impartial tribunal of the Privy Council, especially in all matters in dispute between the Federal and Provincial Governments. There is no compulsion that it should do so, and it can refrain from so doing, or can arrogate that right should it deem it wise to do so.

So too, in regard to amendments to the Canadian constitution. The B.N.A. Act created a confederation of Provinces, reserving to the Dominion certain exclusive powers on the one hand and certain other exclusive powers to the Provinces on the other hand, while in regard to some matters jurisdiction was divided between the two authorities. The Provinces, therefore, have as much right as the Dominion itself to say when and how the constitution shall be amended, and up to the present time certain of the Provinces have preferred to leave the matter as it was at the time of confederation, with the British Parliament making such amendments to the constitution of Canada as the Parliament of Canada, with the consent of the Provinces, may request. But Canada can secure full and final control over its own constitution if and when the people so desire.

So, the complete and final answer to the question: "Who Owns Canada?" brings us back to the definition given by the Secretary of State at Ottawa,—the Dominion belongs to the people of the Dominion. They are masters of their own national destiny. Nobody can tax them but themselves; they pay tribute to no other nation. Canada can make its own treaties with other nations irrespective of the effect such treaties may have upon other Dominions of the British Commonwealth.

But, because the Dominion belongs solely to the people of the Dominion, the great responsibility rests upon their shoulders as citizens of a sovereign nation among the nations, with absolute equality in the League of Nations, to govern themselves, and to conduct their national and international relationships, as to command the respect of and wield a great influence for good in the world. There should be no spirit of a narrow nationalism in Canada; quite the reverse.

Summer Complaint Plays Havoc With The Bowels

WILD STRAWBERRY
EXTRACT

Few people escape an attack of summer complaint. It is the result of eating too much of the rich food of the season and the old are liable to suffer from it more than the young. You cannot tell when it seizes you how it is going to end. Last night a day or two and see how weak and prostrate it will leave you.

Joy-Riding By Air

New York People Have Money For Extravagant Notions

Late one night the staff of St. Hubert Airport, near Montreal, had word that an airplane was coming in, and they turned on the beacons and lights.

At 12:30 midnight the plane arrived from Roosevelt Field, New York. There alighted two men and a woman, in evening clothes. A taxicab was in waiting, and it hurried them away to Montreal.

Just before four o'clock the party returned, boarded the plane, and were back in New York for an early breakfast.

Thus between sunset and morning these people travelled to Montreal, had three hours in that city, flew home in time for work. The cost of the outing was about $500. If the incident has a moral perhaps it is that New York still has money for extravagant notions—and that the new year has not destroyed the strong attraction of Montreal for its wealthy neighbors.—Ottawa Journal.

HAD RHEUMATISM FOR 20 YEARS

But None Since 1930

This man must have something like a record for suffering. He says:—"Since 1910 up to date, I have been free from that dreadful pain, simply by taking Kruschen Salts—and nothing else. I must say that 20 years is a long time to have that awful rheumatic pain about one."—W. P.

Your rheumatism is just like his and everyone else's. It is caused by sharp-edged uric acid crystals getting into your joints. Kruschen will dissolve of these crystals and further more—if you keep up the "little daily dose" ever afterwards, it will never be possible for them to form again. Rheumatism will be gone for good.

Use Of Anti-Toxin

New Treatment Of Diseases Of Children Is Reported

New developments in treatment of two diseases of children, scarlet fever and whooping cough, were reported to the American Medical Association.

There is hope that it will be possible to immunize infants against whooping cough just as they are protected from diphtheria, by treating them with a vaccine, said Dr. Louis W. Bauer, of Evanston, Ill.

Tests showed, he said, that not one of the children he vaccinated contracted the disease.

Use of anti-toxin in cases of scarlet fever has been definitely shown to reduce severity of the disease and its dreaded complications. Dr. Luke W. Hunt, of McCormick Institute for Infectious Diseases, Chicago, reported, summarizing study of more than 2,000 cases.

The anti-toxin should be given within the first day or two after the patient becomes ill with scarlet fever, he said.

Smashing the Atom

Powerful Hammer Devised By Scientists Accomplishes Feat

The most powerful hammer yet devised for smashing the centres, or cores, of atoms, which are believed to hold the secret of how all matter is built, was described before the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

This atom-smashing hammer is the deuterium, the infinitely small but enormously powerful core of the heavier of the two atoms of hydrogen which is fired like a bullet into the cores of atoms that are to be smashed. Latest results of its use were reported by Drs. Gilbert N. Lewis, M. Stanley Livingston and Ernest O. Lawrence of the University of California.

Removed Half Of Brain

Removal of almost all of the right half of a woman's brain with no noticeable effect on her mentality and only partial paralysis on the left side was reported to the American Medical Association, Twenty months after the operation, Dr. Gardner said, "examination disclosed no change in intellect."

Permanent Exhibition

Planned For London

Alexandra Palace May Be Turned Into Amusement Place

There is a prospect of London being endowed with a permanent "Wembley Exhibition." The Alexandra Palace, on the northern heights of London, Eng., which has long been the despair of all concerned with it, has been taken in hand by no fewer than 18 local authorities, who have recommended grants for its modernization which will amount to $1,000,000. It is proposed the Palace shall be so renovated as to convert it into a first-rate place of exhibition and general amusement.

The history of the Alexandra Palace is a dreary one. It was opened exactly 60 years ago as a northern rival of the Crystal Palace, which stands on the southern hills bordering London. A fortnight after its opening it was burned out. Shortly after it had been rebuilt it was compelled to close owing to lack of funds, and remained closed for nine years.

For 20 years following, it had fitful bursts of enterprise. At length money was subscribed to save the park from falling to the speculative house builder. The park, which extends to almost 200 acres, was a valuable acquisition, but nobody ever has been able to do anything effective with the great sprawling palace itself. During the war it made itself useful, first as a harborage for Belgian refugees, and later for German prisoners.

The only good thing in the Palace is the great organ. This was the masterpiece of "Father" Henry Willis. Master-lovers of North London a few years back contrived to find the money to make the organ as good as new, and week-end concerts at the palace have been popular.

Social Progress

Must Keep Pace With Scientific Advance, Says Hon. R. J. Manion

Social progress must keep pace with scientific advance in order to bring about an equitable distribution of the world's products, Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, told the Canadian Electrical Association at their annual banquet at Lucerne-in-Quebec.

Dr. Manion urged that not only public men but business men and scientists give serious thought to being abreast of reforms that would enable a greater number of the people to share the benefits of what they produce.

The minister made electrical development the theme of his address but touched also on the problems of the day and the world economic conference. It was inconceivable, he said, that the conference would fail to achieve its end. If there should be difficulties between the European nations, Canada and the United States, Canada would act as an intermediate power, and he did not anticipate any such difficulties would arise.

He expressed the belief that the vast majority of people in Canada were opposed to the export of electrical power, not only because it was a direct loss to industrial possibilities in the Dominion, but because of the great difficulty in shutting off power from a friendly country once communities had been built up in the power exporting area.

Cypress Hills Park

Highest Elevation Of Any Part Of Saskatchewan

Cypress Hills Park, known as the Highlands of Saskatchewan, will be officially opened this year. This park is 20 miles south of Maple Creek and has the highest elevation of any part of the Province of Saskatchewan. Some of the streams in the park flow south to the Missouri River and some flow north to the Saskatchewan River and then on to Hudson Bay. The main park area is 1,400 feet above sea level and part of it is even higher than Banff, the famous mountain resort in Alberta. New buildings in the park include one lodge with 18 large rooms and a number of log cabins.

Flax was grown on 54,000 acres in England in 1870; nowadays probably the only flax produced is on the King's Sandringham estate.

Ingenious Excuse For Speeding

Thought Fire Engine Was Coming
Said San Francisco Girl

The excuses proffered by our young women motorists when caught speeding are curiously lame and hackneyed, complains a correspondent of the Manchester Guardian.

Why not emulate a girl friend over in San Francisco, who declared, truthfully radiating from her big blue eyes, that she thought a fire engine was behind her, and that it was up to her to hurry to get out of the way. She was chased by motorcycle policemen, and did not stop until two shots had been fired by them. Why are not our own traffic police encouraged by "the Yank" to tackle their job in this modern and virile way? At least a machine-gun might be stationed at busy spots along bypass roads during summer weekends to increase respect for the law, even if it were to fire only blank.

Sees World Wheat Surplus And Believes Curtailment Of Production Is Only Solution

In the April issue of Canadian Business, writing under the pen-name of John Marquis, an authority on the wheat situation had an article in which, after analysing the situation as he saw it, he reached the conclusion that no real evidence exists of a world surplus of wheat. In the current issue of this organ of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, John I. McFarland, general manager of the Canadian Co-Operative Producers Limited, makes a spirited reply, in which he questions the basis of this conclusion, puts forth figures to indicate that there is a surplus and argues the need of acreage reduction.

Mr. McFarland states that statistics show that the visible supplies of wheat had commenced to accumulate before the last year's good crop of 1929 and since its disposal they have continued to accumulate. He quotes the International Institute at Rome to the effect that wheat stocks will experience a further appreciable increase during the present season, the total visible stocks will have risen from 955 millions of August 1st last year, to 965 millions by next August. Total international trade for this year, he states, is estimated to be somewhere between 630 and 664 million bushels, so that the exportable carry-over surplus represents 100 per cent. of the total international trade for a year. The surplus, he asserts, "becomes a quantity of paramount importance as a price making factor." Based on the present world's acreage and with average crops, he states, the world's surplus will continue to increase.

As regards the position of Canada, Mr. McFarland sets forth that before the war this country supplied about 13 per cent. of the world's international trade in wheat. Since then Canada has increased her acreage greatly. If this country continues its recent acreage and reaps average yields per acre, it will appear necessary, says this authority, that Canada must secure very close to 80 per cent. of the world's trade to dispose of its crops. Does anyone believe, he inquires, that other countries are going to leave to Canada the privilege of supplying this proportion.

What is the solution for the conditions described? According to Mr. McFarland, the only method by which there may be any permanent advance in prices is by a world-wide reduction in acreage. In such a movement, he thinks, Canada should be a leader because in the past twenty years she has increased her acreage by a much greater percentage than any other exporting country. He goes on:

"The Laws of Nature of the Acts of Providence might conceivably reduce production on this over-extended acreage, but such reduction can only be of a temporary nature, because after all those laws, over a period of years, will make their averages. Therefore, it appears that there is only one way of permanently correcting the unsound conditions and that is by the actual reduction in acreage."

Mr. McFarland buttresses his contention with the statement that the United States has fed an unusually large quantity of wheat to animals during the last three years—a quantity sufficient for a year's world supply. He points to this as an answer to the people who say there is no over-production and that the problem is only one of underconsumption.

The viewpoint thus set out is the viewpoint of a large element in the West which favors agreement for curtailment of production and control of distribution.

Germany Seeks Room For Expansion And Means To Pay Debts

A memorandum prepared by Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, German minister of economics, for the economic committee of the world conference, said there were two possible ways of increasing Germany's capacity to meet her international debts—first, by giving her an African empire where large public works schemes might be carried through; or, second, by opening other new territories "to this people which has not enough space in which to live."

GOOD LOOKING HOME WEAR HELPS IMMENSELY—MAKES KITCHEN CHORES EASY

Every woman knows she can't have too many home ensembles that will tub and tub and always come up smiling.

And today's model is just lovely. The dress is suitable for the house, garden, porch, marketing, etc. And incidentally, it's decidedly slimming to the heavier build. The diagonal hip seaming reduces bulk.

The dress is dark blue and white dimity. The apron is white dimity which is used for the dress trim. And isn't the one-piece apron attractive? And it won't slip off the shoulders either, for the suspender straps are useful besides being modish.

Design No. 910 includes the dress and the apron in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust. Size 16 requires 3½ yards of 38-inch material for dress with 1½ yards of 35-inch material for apron and dress collar.

Price of pattern 20 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

Canadian Mosquitoes

About Sixty Species Of This Pest Found In Canada

There are about sixty species of mosquitoes in Canada, many of which feed on the blood of man. Although the majority of them, particularly the kind known as Anides are most troublesome in field and woodland, in certain seasons, as at present, they often cause considerable annoyance indoors as well. Their attacks are most noticeable at dusk, and in warm, dull, humid weather. In autumn and winter, also, complaints are frequently received of the presence of numbers of mosquitoes in cellars and basements. These mosquitoes are the hibernating females of the genera Culex and Anopheles which pass the winter as winged adults in protected situations. Attacks from them are rare. However, in many parts of Eastern Canada, the cosmopolitan house mosquito, known scientifically as Culex Pipiens, is now well established, especially in towns and cities, and in one large city has become a public nuisance. This species is found not far from dwellings which it enters freely, biting particularly at night. Householders and others can combat the mosquito nuisance is fully explained in "Mosquito Control in Canada," a pamphlet issued on request by the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

No More Constantinople

City Now Called Istanbul and Is Not Turkish Capital

The first two things to remember about Constantinople nowadays is that it is not the capital of Turkey and that it is not called Constantinople. The capital is Ankara where the President-dictator, Mustafa Kemal, lives on his estate "Pinecliff," and Constantinople is called Istanbul. It is a city with a million inhabitants and about fifty thousand starving dogs, but some time ago they were taken off to a deserted island with no food or water, so that they all ate each other until the survivor died of thirst.

One Great Advantage

School days being once more over there will be many happy-go-lucky with nothing to do and no place to go. Here is where the farm presents advantages over city life. The farm boy or girl can be given some responsibility or some task that will be useful to them and not disadvantageous or costly to the parents. Farm youth do not have to spend their vacation days in idleness.—Farmer's Advocate.

Coral Not A Rock

Every Inch Is Built By Tiny Sea Animals

Coral is not a rock, it is made of skeletons. It is really an animal something like a sea-anemone jelly-like and soft, and of olive brown color. It has many tentacles round its mouth, and when it has caught its food it floats it through its body on a strand of water, which it is continually sucking in. This sea-water contains lime and somehow the coral animal draws the lime from the water and uses it to build a tiny platform for it to rest on. Gradually it makes a home for itself out of lime, and in that it lives till it dies. Then the next coral animal comes along and builds its lime shell on top of the old one, and so on. After thousands of years billions of these creatures will have made a huge mass of lime, which comes above the surface of the sea and make a coral island. The Great Barrier Reef, off Australia, is hundreds of miles long, yet every inch of it was made by these tiny creatures.

Leaves Nothing To Chance

Electricity Keeps Tab On Crowds At Chicago Fair

Electricity keeps Century of Progress officials at Chicago informed as to just what the number of persons inside the grounds is at any time. Turnstiles at the various entrances are equipped with counting and recording devices with a central dial in the comptroller's office. A glance at the dials tells how many persons have entered the grounds, how many left and what entrances and exits were used. The information is used in distribution of guards and change at entrances; to notify transportation companies when there is a rush from the grounds and at what exits, and to keep concessionaries informed of the size of the crowds so they will not run out of supplies.

Wrapper And All

The general practice to wrap things in cellophane has its disadvantages. Take the case of the near-sighted man who ordered a ham sandwich at a lunch counter for example:

"Was that sandwich quite fresh that you sold me?" he asked.
"Quite, sir," replied the lunch counter attendant. "Each one is wrapped in transparent, airtight paper."

"Coah!" said the customer. "I wish I'd known that."

Historical Garden Roses

Origin Of Beautiful Hybrid Perpetual Roses In Canada

At the end of the eighteenth century the China rose with its habit of continuous bloom was brought to Europe, says the Dominion Horticulturist, Dr. Macoun, in discussing this probable origin of the beautiful hybrid perpetual roses in Canada. Before very long hybrids of the China rose with French and Provence roses were raised. They were called Hybrid Chinese, but took after their European parents in that they flowered only once in the season. These hybrids and the damask rose were then crossed, and Rose de Hollande, a damask perpetual, was introduced about 1819. This rose was called perpetual because it had a second blooming season. Six years later Gloire de Rosamonde appeared, followed by rapid improvement of this class, and in the fifties such grand favorites as General Jacquemont and Jules Margottin were introduced. In Canada many of the hybrid perpetuals bloom once only in the season.

Money From Trees

Australia, strange as it may seem, is teaching its young people that money grows on trees. Under adult guidance, state school children of Victoria have set out 4,000 acres of saplings that will be worth $1,000,000 on maturity. Profits from the sale of bark and timber will be used to provide school libraries, radio and sports materials.—Christian Science Monitor

May Production in United States Highest in 22 Months

May production of motor vehicles by member companies of the United States Automobile Chamber of Commerce was the highest in 22 months, according to a preliminary report.

Output totalled 172,883 units, a gain of 23 per cent over April and of 51 per cent over May, 1932. Production for the first five months of this year, on the basis of this estimate, amounted to 655,739 units against 584,505 in the same 1932 period.

The organization includes all major producers except the Ford Company.

Many of London's 32,000 factories are resuming operations.

A Strange Assignment

Dr. O'Neil Returns From Africa Where He Exhibits For the Chicago Fair

Returning from what is perhaps one of the strangest assignments ever given to a man, Dr. Owen R. O'Neil, of Chicago, arrived at Montreal on the Cunard liner "Aurania." Dr. O'Neil has been acting on behalf of the Chicago World Fair Authority and has just completed a tour of Africa from Abyssinia to the Cape in search of the greatest types of various tribesmen throughout the Dark Continent.

He has also collected a large number of exhibits of examples of their primitive art and workmanship. After some months of ceaseless travel in Africa, Dr. O'Neil has at last collected an interesting assortment of natives and their characteristic work as has probably ever been got together for exhibition purposes. The collection of twenty-two natives together with the exhibition material are coming on the Cunard liner "Aurania." The natives are travelling in special third class accommodation and are expected to arrive in their native dress when they will probably create something of a sensation.

Dr. O'Neil is a medical practitioner, but in view of his peculiar assignment as an explorer in Africa he was engaged by the Chicago World Fair to collect material for the exhibition from Africa. The effort was made somewhat belatedly, Dr. O'Neil explained in an interview on arrival, and he did not have enough time to make his collection of individuals complete. He found that the British Government and the Belgian Government whose rule extends over many sections of central Africa, where are located the most interesting tribes, refused permission to allow natives to be used for exhibition purposes. There was no such objection, however, from the French Government, and Dr. O'Neil was able to obtain a large variety of specimens of various types in the Cameroons, Portuguese Africa, and other sections in Central Africa.

Dr. O'Neil's original trip was to London, England, thence to Cape Town by steamer after which he made the Imperial Airways trip direct to Paris with the customary stops at places like Bulawayo and Nairobi, afterwards proceeding from Paris to Addis Ababa, capital of Abyssinia. There he was given help to obtain a passport of art before he proceeded south through other regions.

The tallest passenger on the "Aurania" was certainly B. Greene, who is making a rush trip to Canada. Mr. Greene is six feet eight inches high and claims that he is the shortest member of a big family. The berth in his cabin, made for passengers of more modest proportions, had to be altered to accommodate his Herculean figure. Mr. Greene comes of a famous family of men and claims he can trace his ancestry back two or three centuries. Although born in France, he is now the British Diplomatic Service in Russia, and is now the owner of a garage in England.

British Post Office

Receives Odd Requests

People Write About All Sorts Of Queer Things

All sorts of people write to the British post office on all sorts of topics.

One woman asked for a new savings bank book because her old one had been taken from her pocket—and eaten by an elephant.

A native of India sought some information, and ended his letter with, "I bless God make you a king and emperor."

Then a messenger-boy who had left after three years' service with a "reference," wrote complaining that, while he knew he was unpunctual and had "caused trouble," the postmaster had not filled in the dotted line next to the word "character."

One depositor was officially written to because his signature had changed. He replied that he was "10 long, weary years since I signed the original. The lines now slide over the space where once waved my golden tresses."

"My pearly teeth have also departed long since."

"You will agree with Shakespeare, 'Change and decay in all around I see.'"

For Canadian Cattle Trade

At the request of the Department of Trade and Commerce the Dominion Steamship line has specially equipped the steamer "Nevisian" for the cattle trade. The vessel, first of her line to engage in the Canadian trade for over eight years, sailed from Montreal with 536 head of Canadian cattle for Cardiff together with 130,000 bushels of Canadian grain and a general cargo.

U. S. Tourists

Over Thirty-Two Millions Crossed International Boundary In 1932

A total of 32,883,619 persons crossed the international boundary between Canada and the United States in 1932, of whom 23,145,782 travelled by bridge, ferry and tunnel; 7,532,000 were motorists crossing on highways and 2,185,837 were railway passengers. The horse-drawn vehicle has practically passed out of the picture, as far as international traffic is concerned, for last year only 64 were reported as crossing from Canada to the United States and vice versa.

Included in the total of 32,883,619 persons who crossed the international boundary were 14,000,000 tourists from the United States who visited Canada for periods ranging from one day to six months.

The heaviest traffic between the two countries is between Windsor, Ontario, and Detroit, Michigan, and Walkerville, Ontario, and Detroit, where two ferries are operated across the Detroit River in addition to one bridge and a tunnel for pedestrians and vehicles; a railway tunnel and three systems of railway ferries also cross at this point. Traffic is also heavy at all times of the year across the Peace Bridge over the Niagara River at Fort Erie, Ontario, and at Niagara Falls and Queenston, Ont.

The boundary between Canada and the United States extends over 5,000 miles of which 3,100 miles are land boundary and 2,400 miles are water boundary.

A classroom in the School for the Deaf at Saskatoon, fitted with equipment enabling children to hear the voice of their teacher, and even their own voices, previously inaudible to them. It is a microphone hook-up, making use of light and sound waves, designed by Sigurd Sanda, of Saskatoon, who says there is an enormous field for research in this direction.

The microphone is fitted with an amplifier and pupils wear headphones.

Trail Blazers

Bank Of Montreal Opens Branch At Port Of Churchill

"Standing on Franklin's trail of 1819, and looking out over Hudson Bay, where the great explorer of that name died, we ask all our friends to raise their glasses and toast with us, the hardy trail blazers who first visioned Churchill harbor as a world port, and all those who followed to boost for the Hudson Bay Railway."

This was the tribute made by four present-day trail blazers of pioneering spirits, who made a pilgrimage to historic Churchill, and who see in the far north a new land of great wealth and opportunity for Canadians and for the world.

They were John Callaghan, general manager of the Northern Alberta Railways; W. A. Brown, retired general superintendent of the Canadian National Railways, now of Edmonton, and who in 1880 was conductor of Canadian Pacific Railway, operating into Winnipeg; John Bius, author of "History of Alberta" and other works, and at present, secretary and manager of the board of trade and chamber of commerce, Edmonton; Frank Pike, manager of the Bank of Montreal, Edmonton.

Among those who travelled the northbound "Muskeg" train of the summer schedule were Major J. G. MacLachlan, district engineer of the Hudson Bay Railway; and T. W. Tod, who will be manager of the Bank of Montreal at Churchill this summer. He was accompanied by H. L. McKay, who will work with him. The party were present at the official opening of the bank on June 19th.

Shingle Industry Revives

All Big Plants In Fraser River Valley Working Full Time

The shingle industry on the Fraser River is booming with virtually all the big plants working double shifts, and employing approximately 1,000 men in the New Westminster district. Some plants have orders sufficient to keep them busy most of the summer. Prices have advanced sharply.

Shingle production in the lower Fraser Valley this year is expected to reach 1,200,000,000 pieces of a value of $2,000,000 against 770,000,000 pieces in 1932.

Increased shingle production means more activity in the woods.

SOME EARLY LEADERS OF ISRAEL—JOSHUA

Golden Text: "Be strong and of good courage; . . . for Jehovah thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest."—Joshua 1:9.

Lesson: Joshua, Chapters 1-6, 23, 24.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 119: 1-8.

Explanations and Comments

The Charge To Joshua, 1:1, 2.—Joshua had been the attendant of Moses. We hear about him in Ex. 17: 8-16; 18:9; 24:13; 22:17; 33:11; Numbers 11:28; 13:16; 14:6-9; 27:18; 31:7; 8; 34:17; Deuteronomy 1:38; 3:28; 34:9. As he was one of the spies sent into Canaan from Kadesh some thirty-eight years before this, he must have been at least sixty years old when Moses died. He was a trained military leader, and the right man to lead the Israelites in their conquest of Canaan. When Moses was about to lay down his command he had anointed Joshua as his successor.

"Moses, my servant, is dead; now therefore arise and go over this Jordan, thou and all this people, into the land which I do give to them, even to the children of Israel"; thus Joshua heard the voice of God in his soul. It was a time, not for grief, but for action. The marble slab in Westminster Abbey which bears the portraits of John and Charles Wesley has the inscription: "God buries the workers, but carries on the work."

He best honors his dead who arises and takes up his tasks with resolute heart, strong in the faith that God will not forsake him. "What we do in our bereavement is very momentous," declared Dr. J. H. Jowett. "We can sit down and mope in ever deepening melancholy, or we can take up our appointed work. I like that great, deep, loyal word of Ezekiel: 'At even my wife died; and I did in the morning as I was commanded.'"

The Help Promised, 1:5, 6, 9.—There shall not any man be able to stand before these all the days of thy life; as I was with Moses, so I will be with thee; I will not fail thee, nor forsake thee. These words must have come to Joshua in answer to his prayer for help in the great task before him.

Before him stood the very momentous, declared Dr. J. H. Jowett. "We can sit down and mope in ever deepening melancholy, or we can take up our appointed work. I like that great, deep, loyal word of Ezekiel: 'At even my wife died; and I did in the morning as I was commanded.'"

Moses had exhorted Joshua, Deuteronomy, 31:7, 8, and the reiteration of this in this chapter has given rise to the supposition that in the beginning Joshua's heart failed him. He was a brave soldier, but he needed more than physical courage for the task confronting him. Had not the greater leader said, "Who am I, that I should bring forth the children of Israel out of Egypt?" Hence the Jewish legend that as Joshua was beset with his anxiety for the magnitude of his task, and was sending his clothes and weeping, Moses comforted him with the assurance that God had foreseen and provided for everything. "Be strong and of good courage," are the assuring words he now receives; "for thou shalt cause this people to inherit the land which I swore unto the fathers to give them."

"The law of his God is in his heart; None of his steps shall slide."—Psalm 37:31.

An Amazing Machine

An amazing machine was demonstrated in Aberdeen, for lifting fish of any size. During the demonstration the machine took charge of a batch of small haddock, chopped off their heads, stripped off their fins, cleaned them, shaped them, and removed their bones without crushing or damaging them. It delivered them ready for smoking or packing at the rate of thirty fish per minute.

A startling marked in July, 1931, on Mellum, a North Sea island off Germany, has just been found in Ireland.

Singing Color Fountain

Unique Attraction At Chicago World's Fair Arranged By Firestone Factory

One of the most unique attractions at the World's Fair at Chicago is the Firestone Singing Color Fountain, in the gardens surrounding the Firestone factory and exhibition building.

This gorgeous spectacle is the only one of its kind in the world. It presents in marvelous beauty a perfect harmony of music, ever-changing color combinations and variations in the rise and fall of the beautiful mystic fountain. This scientific engineering achievement is the result of years of work by some of the world's greatest electrical engineers and scientists.

This magnificent Singing Color Fountain is situated in front of the ultra-modern and attractive Firestone factory and exhibition building in the center of the spacious garden, surrounded by trees, shrubs and beautiful flowers. The great pool is 100 feet long and 15 feet wide, out of which rise the many dome-shaped mystic fountains, the powerful light rays of varying hues penetrating the misty water. This diamond-like spray shoots twenty feet in the air—all with the music. The ever-changing shades of colors and the varying velocity of the water are in complete tune with the music that fills the air from immense radio loud speakers hidden within the walls of the building.

The Firestone factory and exhibition building is one of the main attractions of the World's Fair. The building contains a complete tire factory, showing every step in the manufacture of tires, and many unique and interesting dynamic displays of an educational nature.

In addition to this, Firestone has an exhibit in the great "Hall of Science" where one of the features will be a plant of rubber trees from the million acre Firestone Rubber plantations in Liberia.

PROPOSAL IS MADE TO REDUCE WHEAT ACREAGE

London, Eng.—The four-governor wheat conference adjourned discussions to await statistical information on production from Australia, Argentina, and Soviet Russia after formulating a tentative plan calling for reduced acreage and export quotas.

News of extensive crop damage in Canada and a short crop in the United States caused delegates to believe the final position may be changed materially.

Stanley Bruce, Australian minister to the United Kingdom, asked that the conference produce some concrete proposal which he might transmit to Canberra for consideration of his government.

It was learned the limitation proposal as now constituted contemplated reduction of acreage by 15 per cent. for one year only and that the program for the second year would be decided after the effects of the one-year reduction are seen.

Canada, the United States and Argentina were reported agreed with the Polish stand that small producers must be brought into any scheme if disaster is to be avoided.

The Soviet has not been brought into debate yet but some quarters were inclined to the view no enduring solution of the wheat problem would be possible without participation of Russia despite that country's short crop this season.

Limitation of production by way of reduced acreage and the curtailment of exports by a quota system among the nations are the main lines on which the conference is working, while at the same time arguments pleading for some agreement by importing nations on methods whereby they might raise consumption.

The Daily Telegraph said it was informed the world economic conference will begin immediate discussion of a plan for reducing the world's wheat output by 15 per cent. and absorbing the total carry-over in two years.

Review Tariff

Britain Asks Canada To Discuss Duties On Long List Of Articles

London, Eng.—Taking further advantage of the terms of the Canada-United Kingdom trade agreement, signed at Ottawa, the United Kingdom asked Canada to review the Canadian duties on a long list of articles, with a view to revision. The Canadian tariff board is already preparing to review the duties on cotton and textile goods imported from Britain.

The trade pact signed at the Imperial Conference gives each country the right to seek revision in the scale of duties levied by the other on its goods.

Trouble Over Taxes

Ten People Reported Killed In Riots In Poland

Warsaw, Poland.—Nine persons and one policeman were officially reported killed when police forced peasants to cease beating tax collectors in the Galician districts of Ropczyce, Rzeszow and Lancut. Sixteen persons were seriously wounded. Many arrests were made and numerous peasants escaped to the forests.

Gulls Save Crops

Aids To Navigation

To Install Direction Finding Stations In Hudson Bay Area

Ottawa, Ont.—Paving the way for renewed efforts to reduce insurance rates on the Hudson Bay route, the federal marine department will shortly commence construction of a short wave direction finding station at Chesterfield, on the east shore of the bay, a considerable distance north of Churchill.

Installation of additional navigation lights in the strait will not be undertaken this year. The department has no funds for this purpose and, in addition, further survey work is necessary to determine the precise location of the points at which lights would be erected.

It is necessary to be able to mark all lights on navigation charts with absolute accuracy so that navigators when they see a light may fix their position. Hitherto a detailed hydrographic survey of the north shore of the strait has not been carried out and if lights were built this year, only approximate position could be given.

The direction finding station at Chesterfield is deemed the most important contribution to the Bay route that may be made at this time. This station will give cross bearings of the line from Nottingham Island to Churchill. At the present time there are stations at Nottingham and Churchill but bearings are difficult to obtain.

This is the official reaction of the marine department to the annual report of the Imperial Shipping committee on the Hudson Bay route.

German Jews Need Help

Opinion Of Man Who Investigated Conditions Created By Nazis

New York.—Michael Williams, who investigated conditions in Germany for the American committee of the rights of religious minorities, said in an address that Nazi opposition to Jews "far exceeds any other persecution known in modern times."

"If the Jews are to be rescued, if their position is to be ameliorated in any important degree, it is vital that an international body be set up qualified to speak and act for the Jews of the world."

Taking Part In Gold Rush

Many Indians Using Sailing Canoes To Reach North

The P.M.S.—Fleets of sailing canoes, loaded to the gunwales with freight, and manned by Crees, are now drifting ahead of the breezes of the northern lakes, heralding the new summer's gold rush in God's lake.

The purr of the outboard motor is heard right across the hinterland. Even Indians, without the cash to secure outboards, have jumped into the "rush" with canoes, and are swinging paddles, oars and sweeps, as they freight their way into the mineralized zone.

Default On Payments Bars New Borrowing

New Ruling In United States To Protect Bond Issues

Washington, D.C.—Foreign borrowers, including governments, who default on their obligations to the United States, can borrow no more money within this country by bond issues or other securities, according to the specific terms of the new Federal Securities Act, known as the "blue sky" law.

A clause in the new act, passed by congress, stipulates that if the securities offered in the United States "in order to make a public authority," such public authority must have "continued the full service of its obligations in the United States" in order to make a public offering of its securities within the republic.

Some other facts interesting to foreign governments or corporations wishing to sell securities in the republic as set forth in the new law follow:

Truthfulness and adequacy of the information furnished to purchasers of foreign securities under the act are made the direct responsibility of U.S. investment houses floating them.

All data relative to the financial status of the government or foreign corporation for which funds are intended to be raised must be furnished by the agents in the United States to the federal trade commission.

Just as domestic securities, foreign securities must be registered with the federal trade commission.

Theft From Mint

Aeroplane Tragedy

Capt. Broatch and Two Mechanics Lose Lives In Air Crash

Prince Albert, Sask.—The first aeroplane tragedy of the year in northern Saskatchewan claimed the lives of three men near the Brooks air base at Emma Lake, 30 miles north of here.

The dead are: Capt. B. W. "Bill" Broatch, pilot, 42. Hiram C. Brooks, pilot-mechanic, 24. T. D. Forsyth, mechanic, 28.

Broatch, well known western commercial flyer, who served with the Royal Navy Air service in France and later with the famous Dover patrol, was testing a reconditioned Buhl "plane" at an altitude of 2,000 feet. With him were Brooks and Forsyth, mechanics of the Brooks Airways, Prince Albert.

In the middle of their tests the "plane" dropped in a spin for some unknown reason and plunged into a bay of the lake just north of the air base, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, after the machine had been put into several spins and loops by the pilot. The "plane" falling into about 10 feet of water, was smashed to pieces and the engine buried in the bottom of the lake.

The bodies of Broatch and Forsyth were recovered shortly after the crash, while Brooks' body had not been recovered. The lake bottom was being dragged for the third body.

Forsyth, mechanic, was scarcely recognizable, while Broatch's head was badly smashed. Brooks was the son of R. D. Brooks, of Prince Albert, president of Brooks Airways.

Snow Slide Victim

Find Bodies Of Two Men Lost Since Last February

Field, B.C.—One hand jutting above rock and melting snow had led to discovery of Cris. Dean, 26, and his brother, Joe, 23, lost in Duchesney Pass since last February.

The young men, both residents of Banff, were, trapped in snowdrifts in the pass as they attempted a ski journey from Camp Hector to Field, 30 miles through winding passes. Work parties will leave here to dig the bodies out of the debris.

Discovery of the bodies was made by two Swiss guides, Rudolph Amner and C. Haesler, who were conducting a search of the pass. Searches have been made intermittently since the young men disappeared, a brother Frank, 20, making trips through the area at every opportunity.

Parents of the young men reside at Banff.

Lord Montagu Is Fined

Found Guilty Of Common Assault On John Forbes

Victoria, B.C.—Lord Edward Montagu, the second son of the Duke of Manchester, was found guilty of common assault on the person of John Forbes on June 15 and was fined $20 and $75 costs, or in default, ten days in jail, by Magistrate George Jay in provincial police court here. C. W. Brooks, co-defendant, was found guilty of assault causing grievous bodily harm, and was fined $50 and $75 costs, or in default, one month in jail. Montagu's fine was paid and he was freed.

STABILIZATION OF CURRENCY BONE OF CONTENTION

London, Eng.—Prime Minister J. Ramsey MacDonald, chairman of the World Economic Conference, was said to be seeking elimination of the monetary stabilization question which constitutes the bone of bitter contention at the parity.

The French delegation failed to carry out threats of demanding adjournment of the conference until the United States dollar should be stabilized, but the feeling of anxiety over the problem continued intense in conference quarters.

Quarters were clearly disturbed by the solid lining up of many countries opposed to dollar instability and it was unofficially pointed out in comment that one of the chief points of the Washington program was stabilization as soon as practicable along the lines laid down in the resolution submitted by Senator Key Pittman.

A succession of speakers pleaded for monetary stabilization as essential to restoration of confidence, including representatives of Italy, Switzerland, Poland, Norway, Germany, Rumania and Yugoslavia.

The discussion arose during consideration of a British resolution calling for easy money and cheap credit policies.

The conservative gold standard countries doubted the feasibility of the program and warned of its possible dangers.

Marine Insurance Rates

Expect Lower Rates May Be Obtained For Bay Route

Ottawa, Ont.—The report of the imperial shipping committee in which it found that the insurance rates on hulls and machinery on ships trading into Churchill could not be reduced this year, but the minimum rate was intended to apply to ships leaving Churchill as it is instead of the previous limit of Sept. 30, was made public today by the department of marine.

The report appeared to be optimistic that lower rates might prevail in subsequent years if safety of the Hudson Bay route were demonstrated.

The report considered at length the ocean traffic into Churchill during the 1932 season when 10 cargo vessels made the passage through Hudson Straits and into Churchill. Nine made successful voyages and one, the "Bright Fan," was a total loss after striking an iceberg.

Reference was made to the former report in which the committee explained that "as long as there are only a few voyages in the season, a single casualty may quite likely absorb the whole or more than the whole of the money received by way of premium."

Strengthen Air Force

Australian Government Said To Be Planning Enlargement

New York.—A special despatch to the New York Times from Canberra says it is understood the Australian government is prepared to spend an additional $1,000,000 next year in strengthening the air force and mechanized transport equipment. Sir George Pearce, Minister of Defence, says Australian defence has been starved for three years and that the government will administer nourishment as soon as possible.

Grasshopper Invasion

Winnipeg, Man.—Thirty thousand acres of green crops in Winchester municipality, southwest Manitoba, were threatened with destruction by an invading horde of grasshoppers as western Canada's wheat lands, baked by a searing sun during last week's heat wave, failed to receive the much-needed moisture promised.

Was Friend To Animals

New York.—The animals would be dead if they could understand. Harry Daniel Moran, head of the Humane Society of New York, who spent 16 years helping suffering beasts, is dead.

DISTINGUISHED FIGURES IN WORLD CONFERENCE

Canadians occupy a prominent place in the World Federation of Education Associations which is to hold its fifth Biennial Conference in Dublin, Ireland, this month. It will bring together outstanding educational leaders from forty or more countries with the object of cultivating and developing international good will and exchanging views on educational matters. The Dominion is represented by Harry Charlesworth (centre), Vancouver, B.C., as vice-president of the organization; Dr. E. A. Hardy (right), Toronto, as Treasurer; and Dr. D. D. MacDonald (left), Toronto, a member of the board of directors.

Here and There

Gasoline sold in Canada during 1932, according to figures compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, amounted to 663,452,000 gallons. Nearly half the total was consumed in the Province of Ontario.

The recent Canadian census reveals that of the population of Canada fifty-two per cent. are of British origin; twenty-eight per cent. French origin; seventeen point five per cent. all other European races, and about four-fifths of one per cent. Asiatic.

The Saskatchewan Department of Natural Resources will liberate about 2,000 nine-week-old pheasants throughout the province of Saskatchewan during the coming summer. The birds are being held in captivity at Moose Jaw prior to liberation.

Despite a somewhat later season this year, crop conditions throughout the Prairie Provinces provide cause for optimism in the opinion of J. M. McKay, general agricultural agent, Canadian Pacific Railway. He based his view on improved moisture conditions and generous growth everywhere which at some points was the best since 1925.

Completing a sensational successful visit to Canada and the United States lasting several months, the Oxford Group sailed recently aboard the Empress of Australia for England under the leadership of Rev. H. Allen Viner. Their Canadian visit terminated with a house party at the Château Frontenac at which 500 members were present.

The death at Vancouver recently of F. W. Peters, former general superintendent British Columbia district, Canadian Pacific Railway, severed one of the last remaining links on this continent with the pioneering railroad days of the early seventies. His service was devoted to nearly 52 years. He was born in Saint John, March 25, 1880.

Grant Hall, senior vice-president, Canadian Pacific Railway, back from a three-week inspection trip that took him to the Pacific Coast, stated that he had seen and heard much of an encouraging character during his trip and nothing of a contrary nature. He added that there was distinct revival of hope and restoration of confidence.

Farm management through the application of business principles, practical and theoretical knowledge and ordinary horse sense to farm problems is a necessity of this day of lowered prices. T. C. F. Herzer, manager Canada Colonization Association, told the Winnipeg Rivards at the Royal Alexandra Hotel, recently. The association has extended its activities in Saskatchewan, where it now has 14 zone managers with 1,244 farms of a total of 467,000 acres under supervision.

More than 300 scientists from 31 countries attended the fifth meeting of the Pacific Science Congress opened at the Empress Hotel, Victoria, June 1, and continuing at the Vancouver Hotel, Vancouver, until June 14. It was the first time the Congress has met on the American side of the Pacific Ocean. Lord Buteford addressed the Congress from his home in England, his speech being carried by radio close on 6,000 miles to Vancouver.

Baseball Prattle—By H.C.O.

It's getting to be a habit with us—we've lost 2 games since last week; but we're not disgusted yet. We've got more than the present to think of; we can at least build up a team for the future.

They say everything happens for the best. Let's hope last Wednesday's game took a lot of bad ball out of the boys' system. I'll be quite frank and say I've never seen such punk ball in all my life. We had no kick coming on Sunday, however. That was as neat a game as I've seen this year. Considering the players, it was quite surprising to see such a close struggle. The fans at least got their monies worth.

For some unknown reason, Smithfield was unable to field a team last Friday, and have dropped out of the league. They probably have the type of fans that believe you must win all league games to make it worth your while to play. Just what will happen to the league now is uncertain, but the next week will tell us whether it will live, or just be another pipe dream. It's tough on the W.L.

Stony's game with Red Sox June 24 which Stony won 12 to 7, has been disallowed. It will be replayed here. It does count in the league, but it is a win, nevertheless.

If I ever hear anyone say we should drop from the league just because we can't win games I'm liable to see Red (and it might be a fool at that) and there'll be a double funeral. If they call that Sportsmanship, I've been illusioned for a period of some 10 years. We've entered and it's up to us to see it thru.

Rumor has it that if we are forced to drop out, it will be thru lack of funds. Before this happens, the players will most likely make an appeal to your generosity by trying to collect a donation. If they do, are you going to be the kind of person that people will point you out to strangers saying "No, we can't have a ball team here, so long as we've got the likes of him hanging around are you?" Please don't forget we've only started. We're in a good fast league, and the teams play good ball. As long as we stick in the league we are assured of games and good Sportsmanship. This league is organized for one year and we've got to build, and as Bill Tilden once said "You've got to lose to win". In other words, you've got to cut your teeth first, which is always painful, before you can expect to win.

She held his hand a moment in her warm clasp, thinking of her father lying dead at Resolution, of Alan's noble struggle to save him, of Haskell breaking her father's will to live. It was some solace to know that she had helped Alan plan a trap for the guilty inspector, a deadly trap if Haskell only walked into it.

As she quietly wished him good luck, in her heart she was fervently saying to him, "God go with you, Alan." And because she had passionately resolved not to see him again before she left, she meant her words not only for the stormy hour ahead of him, but for all the years of his life.

Alan strode into the cabin in a savage fighting mood. He had risen from a sick bed to come to Endurance before William—left, and he had sworn he was going to crush Haskell. The inspector had forced him out of the Mounted; had caused Larry to be crippled for life and refused protection to Joyce in her desperate need; had made a scapegoat of Dave MacMillan to save his face; and more than anyone on earth he was responsible for that sorry tragedy at Resolution.

Almost the only hope Alan had was that trap which he and Joyce had planned—an idea born in Joyce's quick brain and developed between them during the three days she had nursed him.

When he went in, he found Williamson and Haskell sitting at the desk, waiting. Haskell did not move; but Williamson, considerate of his wounds, drew up a chair and invited him to sit down.

"Won't you give us the story of your patrol, Baker?" he requested kindly.

Alan countered: "My story doesn't begin with this patrol. It begins last fall, when this gentleman here came down north. I want to tell it clean, from then till now."

"That's your right," Williamson assented.

Alan hoped that his story, by the sheer blunt truth of it, would carry conviction. But when he finished, the old officer did not comment. The silence was foreboding. Almost in desperation, Alan took up a couple of matters that lay very near his heart.

"There's two or three favors I want to ask of you, sir. Since they're not in my own behalf, you may agree to them. One is about Chink Wocley, the man we brought in. I want to put in a word for him. He deserves heavy punishment but he shouldn't be hanged. He gave us some pretty information. We might never have saved Joyce MacMillan if he hadn't. If it's impossible for me to be present at his trial I want to turn over to you an affidavit in his behalf. Then, about Featherfoot, my partner in this patrol. He stole some government property and broke some flying regulations. But he made the whole thing possible, he threw in with me without a thought of pay, he risked his life half a dozen times. We're in position to restore that property or else pay for it in full. Will you get Featherfoot out of this jam?"

"How about yourself, Baker?"

"Well, I don't want to be jailed, if I can help it. But I suppose your favors will stretch just so far. I was the instigator, and if anybody has to pay, I'm the one."

Williamson was thoughtful. Few times in his career had he ever allowed motive, however worthy, to be excuse for breaking the law. But as he glanced at Baker, wounded, maimed in one hand, still pale from loss of blood, he thought what a heartless travesty of justice it would be if Baker were imprisoned. Whatever the truth of his trouble with Haskell, the great fact remained that he had kept on a thousand acre prodigious patrol and had run those criminals to earth.

"I'll do what I can for you both," he promised, with no reluctance. "When I go back outside, I'll talk to the Edmonton officials and try to get those charges non-prosecuted. But you and Featherfoot set to restoring that property."

Alan promised: "We won't fail you on that. It's mighty fine and square of you." After a moment, he went on: "Considering all you've agreed to, I hate to ask still another favor. But I've got to. I've got to speak up for Hardcock and Pedneault. They have charges against them, serious and true charges. But there's this to be said, sir. Neither man deserted. They both intended to return here the moment our patrol ended. They rendered a tremendous service to the Force. They were true to duty in the highest sense of the word. Are you going to look at the good they did, or at nothing but the bad?"

Williamson did not answer. He felt the human justice of Alan's appeal. It seemed to him that the matter went deeper than a question of insubordination. Those men had been under Baker's sway, and he knew what a powerful influence Baker had over his men.

Thinking deeply, he gazed through the window, down upon the dark river. In this tangled affair, it was a sore task to judge wisely, to do the right thing. Baker's long patrol, his indomitable courage in going after these men, his relentless drive in hammering his daring plan through to success—the whole thing was a splendid feat. In his forty years the old officer had never seen a more magnificent piece of work. It was like Baker, like the brilliant sergeant who he once had trusted and fought for.

But the rest of that story, his trouble with Haskell—Williamson did not accept that as true. From start to finish Baker's account was an utter conflict with Haskell's, and to the stern old officer, judging with impartial mind, Haskell's story seemed more credible. Quite plainly Baker harbored a personal hostility which probably had warped and twisted his story out of all semblance to the truth.

One thing Williamson did know beyond any doubting: Baker's account clashed with Haskell's all along the line. One of these two men was an out-and-out liar.

In the tightening silence, waiting for Williamson to start probing, Haskell looked out along the terrace and saw a white thing struck him with chill premonition. The doorway of the mission hospital opened; Pedneault and Bill Hardcock came out, bringing Larry Young with them. Bill on one side, Pedneault on the other, half-leading, half-carrying their crippled partner, they were making straight for the cabin.

When they trod into the room and Williamson heard them, he turned, frowning and demanded:

"What do you men want?"

"Sir, we came here to put our paddle in," Bill stated, bluntly. "We knew you were thrashing out this trouble between Alan and the inspector."

"Your counsel wasn't asked. This matter is between Baker and Inspector Haskell."

"Bill, don't try to run a buck," Alan interposed, fearful that this unexpected move of his three men might kill any chance to trap Haskell. "If the superintendent doesn't want you here, obey him and go."

Bill stubbornly refused. He said to Williamson: "You've got a name, sir, for giving every buck cop and non-cop in your division a square cut and seeing all sides of an argument. I don't think you'll kick us out without hearing what we've got to say. This is as much our right as Alan's. We've had to pay, too, for the inspector's acts. Here's one of us crippled for life because the inspector hog-tied us on that patrol with some fool orders. After a thing like that, do we have to shut up and take it and not even be allowed to—?"

"Sit down!" Williamson bade them. "I'm going to get to the bottom of this. When your time comes I'll hear what you've got to say. Now Baker, I want you to answer some questions. What made you spit your detail on that first patrol?"

"Haskell ordered me to, sir. He ordered me to follow both branches. When I objected, he threatened to bust me and keep me here at the post."

"That's a lie!" Haskell challenged. "I allowed him to do as he thought best. He purposely made a failure of that patrol. I don't ask you to take my word. Corporal Whipple was here in the cabin, and heard our talk. And Baker, ever, his signed statement, admitted to responsibility."

"What proof have you got, Baker?" Williamson demanded.

Alan kept silent, deliberately allowing his silence to damn him. Williamson's probe was leading him in the right direction, leading toward that deadly trap.

To Alan's consternation Bill Hardcock burst out: "Proof? H—H's blue blazes! Alan was half sick, all the way up the Aloska, because of them orders. He felt he was being forced to take us men into a terrible danger. We all knew it was crazy to split up—"

Williamson silenced him. "You're merely making an assertion, corporal. You have no proof, Baker, do you admit responsibility for that patrol?"

Alan shook his head. "No, I—I don't, he stomped."

Haskell smiled. He had Baker on the run.

Williamson reminded: "Baker, you signed a statement of responsibility. Whipple was a witness."

Alan pleaded: "Sir, that statement—"

"When we came back—yes, I signed it. But I—I had to."

"You had to?"

"Yes, to get out of the Mounted. He wouldn't let me buy out unless I did sign."

"Why under heaven did you want to buy out all that fast and furious?"

"I wanted to be free," Alan led on, step by step, "I wanted to go after those men."

"Baker, look here," Williamson said sternly. "You infer you wanted to go after those men so badly that you were willing to buy out, cut off your record, and sign a lie. Why then wouldn't you co-operate with Haskell to get them?"

"Well, sir, he—he wouldn't co-operate."

"I can't believe that. He tried to help you ever afterward—after you bought out and were on a private venture."

"When was that?" Alan queried. "At En Travers Lake."

Little Helps For This Week

"If ye then being evil know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good gifts to those who ask Him?"—Matthew 7:2.

How His great love has compassed Our nature, and our need We know not; but He knoweth, And He will bless indeed. Therefore O Heavenly Father Give what is best to me;— And take the wants unworried, As offerings unto Thee.—Anon.

Whatever we ask which is not for our good He will keep back from us. And surely in this there is no less of love than in granting what we desire. Will not the same love which prompts you to give a good thing prompt you to keep back that which is evil. If in our blindness, not knowing what to ask, we pray for things which would turn in our hands to sorrow, will not our Father out of His love deny us? How much suffering we would have if our wishes could pass at once into realities, if we were endowed with a power to bring about all that we desire, and if our sudden longings were always granted. One day we shall bless Him.

more for what He has denied than for what He has granted.—H. E. Manning.

Not Controlled By Brains

"The human brain is wonderful," remarks The Ottawa Journal. "The instant it is informed of a grade crossing ahead, it sends a message down to the feet to step on the accelerator." Where The Journal goes wrong, according to the Border Cities Star, is in presuming that feet which step on accelerators at grade crossings are in any way controlled, or directed by brains.

Holborn Happenings.

The Holborn Juniors held their economic meeting on June 24. There was a small attendance. It was decided to have a dance on July 7th. The delegates report was tabled until a future meeting. The report will be good, and we would like everyone to hear it.

Bob's ball tossers, altho nicknamed the Junkers, did not fly into victory. As usual they brought up the tail-end in the game against Tama hawk. The results of the big game was 21-7 in favour of the Tomahawks. Exceptionally good playing and much improvement was shown by Holborn boys. Our 1st-base man was a sight worth seeing. He was watching 'em in all forms and fashions. Bob pitched a most wonderful game of ball, but, just the same, the other boys were just a little better. ## The Co-op Store Open.

Watch for the opening of the new Co-op Store, next week, in Stony Plain. It is located, next to the Van der Schaaf Garage, on 2d ave. A carload of flour has just arrived; the 3 big tanks for gas, kerosene and oil, are being installed now; and at the big opening there will be in stock everything for the farmer's needs.

Brightbank News

Crops are looking splendid in this district. Previous to the recent rains they were beginning to assume a brownish tint.

Mrs W McKay of Cottage Lake was a week-end visitor here, at the home of her parents, Mr and Mrs J McDonald.

Hansen Corner and Brightbank U. F. Locals are arranging to have a joint picnic next month; the day to be announced later.

Quite a number from this district motored to Seba, to attend the U.F.A picnic. They report having had a very fine time.

Miss Tina McKay, who has been with us since October, said farewell to her many devoted friends last week, going on a lengthy visit to her old home at Radville, Sask., where she has been for the past five years. It is very much to be regretted by all her friends here that the farewell party to be given in her honor at the home of H. Sammerfield did not take place, owing to unforeseen circumstances.

Miss McKay's cheerful and sociable disposition, and being always ready to lend a helping hand, made her a great favorite with everyone, and her absence will be keenly felt by all.

News from Wembley.

June 20—The weather has been very nice for the past 2 weeks, with a high wind blowing occasionally.

Seeding is very nearly finished here, with about 90 p.c. of the seed is in the ground, and the other 10 p.c. is in no hurry, as it is greenfeed.

The majority of the wheat around Grand Prairie district is up about 6'; oats up from 3 to 4'; and the little barley which was sown this year is about 4' up.

Rain is needed. For the last 2 weeks there has been no rain and the hot sun is drying things up.

Lake Saskatoon school is taking a ball team to Rio Grande's sports day on June 30th.

Herman Trelle is leaving for Regina the fore part of July, to attend the Grain Fair.

Lake Saskatoon has 2 soft ball teams—Bushwackers and Musrats; in a game Wednesday the latter won by a score of 6 to 4.—T.B.

Stony Plain and District

Two of Stony Plain's amateur musicians, Miss Clara Trapp and Miss Mary Campbell, were given an examination on their studies in Edmonton on Sat. last.

On account of the wet weather interfering with the holding of the proposed Lawn social at the Lory home, under the auspices of the United Ladies Aid, this event had to be postponed to a date yet to be announced.

While the electric storm on Fri. night was at its hottest, a transformer on the power and light line in the west section of town was disabled. Repairs were promptly made the following day by mechanics sent out by the Calgary Power Co.

Mr. Elmer Anderson and his staff has a cottage under construction at Seba for Mr. A. E. Michael.

BUTTER AND EGGS WANTED at The Royal Cafe.

Three Months at The Fort.

Alleged to have broken into a cottage at Poplar Beach last January to get articles with which to set up housekeeping with his bride-to-be, Fred Gortz was sentenced on Saturday by Magistrate McLeod in Edmonton police court to 3 months at The Fort jail. He was married on March 2 last, and his wife, who heard the sentence, tearfully walked from the courtroom.

Constable Bone, R.C.M.P. told the court Gortz, who pleaded guilty, stole a cook stove, pans, kettles, and dishes, valued at $35. At his nearby farm, the policeman said, Gortz showed him where he had buried a cookstove.

Edmonton Exhibition tickets can be had at Royal Cafe, 5 for $1.

Visitors from Wembley.

Mr and Mrs Ernest Breikreutz, of Wembley, are visiting with relatives in this district at present. Mr Breikreutz formerly farmed in the Golden Spike district, and this is his first visit here since removing to Wembley some five years ago. The couple motored down to Edmonton with Mr Mat Graham, an oldtimer of Wembley.

Funeral of John Breikreutz.

The funeral took place on Tuesday on John Breikreutz, who had passed away Sunday at the age of 79 years and 4 months. Interment was made in the graveyard at St John's Lutheran church at Golden Spike. Rev P Hannemar conducted the service. He is survived by his wife, 4 sons—John, Ernest, Rudolf, Ferdinand; and 1 daughter, Emma. Mr John Armbruster has charge of the funeral arrangements.

Obituary

Mrs Ph Miller, for upwards of 40 years a resident of Stony Plain and district, passed away at her home on Tuesday afternoon. As we go to press, arrangements are being made for the funeral, which will be in charge of Mr John Armbruster.

The advance sale of tickets for Edmonton Exhibition is now on—5 for $1. Get yours at the Royal Cafe.

On the Side.

Stony is to be well represented in the basketball competitions at Edmonton Exhibition next month, as there will be four teams going in from here—a girls' senior, boys' senior, a girls' junior team, a boys' junior team.

Those fans who were disappointed at not seeing the Royals, on the local Diamond, play a no-hit game here on Friday were compensated by seeing a 2-hit fight near the gate—when someone hit Louie and Louie hit the ground.

Another fistie encounter occurred in the business section the same night, when the Bil-John contest took place. Judging by the words used, the two seemed to be filled with enthusiasm (or sun-pin). This contest may not have had so large an audience but for the big broadcast which accompanied the right jabs and left hooks.
